Choose from the tasks below to fill in your study plan: (choose at least 1 'review' and 1 'do' for each day)

- Create a study guide of the main ideas
- Create your own quiz/test questions and quiz yourself with it
- Make flashcards for vocabulary words (writing out flashcards may help you remember the information better than typing them on an app).
- Read/re-read sections of the textbook writing down information that you need to work on.
- Complete the study guide or section review in the textbook.
- Review flashcards (place in a pile of cards you know and cards you still need to work on).
- Review the study guide (the one you made, the one in the book or one made by the teacher) - cover up portions of the study guide and see what information you are able to recall/remember and what information you still need to work on (put a star next to this info.)
- Quiz yourself with a study guide.
- Play a matching game with your flashcards
- Ask someone else to quiz you with your flashcards or study guide.
- Create a concept map, brain map and/or draw diagrams.
- Explain the information to someone else.
- Label your notes, textbook or study guide with sticky notes (rewriting information helps you to remember it).
- Make a list of questions to ask your teacher during a review in class or at late night.
- Stay for a teacher's late night review for the test.
